Growing Pains Are 'Rubbed' In Annual South Fla Meeting

Debt Service Angrily Met But Operation Straining Purses Strings

Three items which were of no consequence a few years ago loom important to South Florida Conservancy District, the 32,000-acre sub-drainage district which embraces most of the land around the shores of Lake Okeechobee from Runyan around to the Industrial Canal at Clewiston — rights-of-way, rock-pits and continual increase in use of lands for living purposes.

Since the municipalities of South Bay and Belle Glade are ever-expanding and since we like the water away from our homes as fast as it falls the drainage district must make extra provisions for getting this water away and the bookkeeping for a lot containing from 15 to 30 of an acre is just as much as for a tract of land containing 1500 to 3000 acres. That is quite an item. So the landowners decided at the last annual meeting to ask legislative permission to change the method of assessing homesteads in municipalities.

While the district has an easement for access and moving equipment along the canals for maintenance, there is some question whether the line of travel will be on Tom or Dick's side of the ditch: this will be spelled out by legislative action also.

Then, recently we've begun to dig rock for roads, sometimes privately owned and sometimes by government agencies. In pumping these pits so that the rock can be removed, usually the surrounding land is pumped bone dry and made of no use for farming, then sometimes a bunch of dynamite is set off to the discomfort and (Continued on Page Two)

$2,900,000 State Funds Available For Priority Use If Congress Permits

CITY CLERK ANDERSON IS NAMED DIRECTOR IN FLA. FINANCE OFFICERS ASSN.

Cabinet Action Paves Way For Early Work On L-2, L-3 And Main Canals

Florida has always provided its 15% of the construction costs in the Overall Flood Control Plan not only on time, but before time. Some of the appropriations by the State Legislature have reverted to the State Treasury because the Federal Government has not kept pace with state appropriations.

There is on deposit with the Engineers in Jacksonville some $900,000 of state money without matching funds from the Federal government, and there is on hand some $2,000,000, also without matching funds.

The Central & Southern Florida Flood Control Board asked the Budget Commission in Tallahassee to allow this money to be advanced against future matching funds from the Federal government, and the Budget Commission, headed by Governor Charlie Johns, gave this consent. It is proposed to spend the money on authorized projects with the agreement of the Engineers, so that there will be no question of full credit being given Florida on its 15%.

It is planned to commence construction on L-2, L-3, the West Palm Beach canal, the Hillsboro channel and the North New River channel, and the construction of the pump installation on the Hillsboro at the western perimeter dike of the conservation area.

Each of these works will contribute greatly to flood prevention in the much lands around the Lake and all subdrainage districts will benefit greatly in maintenance and operation.

The Congress has been asked to authorize the entire dike enclosing the agricultural area, which will include dikes L-2 to L-6, inclusive.

Chamber Adds 39 New Memberships

Thirty-nine new members were added to the Chamber of Commerce membership drive at a meeting of directors, drive chairman and lifelifters.

Of the $5.25 in pledges and cash, $1,800 was from new membership and raises which is 55% of membership in 1953 and $1,000 over the amount received in 1953.

President George Wedgworth stated that he expected the final figures in the campaign would reach or exceed the goal which was set at $6,500.

Reports from the Hotel, Bars, and Restaurants show 135% collected and expect to exceed that figure on completion of drive.

Mrs. Mary Foy announced that the date of the Glades Groven Dinner, had been changed to May 6, and the guest speaker would be Harold Cole, vice pres, and general manager of the State C of C. Also that the dedication of the new chamber would be broadcast over WSWN at 3:30 pm. The dinner will be held at 7:30 pm at the Country Club with St. Philip's Altar Society serving and preparing the dinner.

JUNIOR BASEBALL IS DISCUSSED BY LYAL BEFORE ROTARY CLUB

Howie Bradstock, introduced Lake Lyal to local Rotaryans Friday as one of the organizers and most active participants in the activities of junior baseball in West Palm Beach.

Mr. Lyal discussed the many phases of organizing and conducting Little League and Pony League baseball in a community such as Belle Glade, and told Rotaryans "that this is one of the most important activities that a community can conduct for you are dealing with young America at its most impressionable age."

"It is also most important," said Mr. Lyal, "that the parents and coaches prepare themselves for this work, for any act of unfairness, when it affects one of these boys, stays with him all during life." "We have found in most cases that the biggest problem in running one of these programs is with the parent."

"Belle Glade started off last year in a very satisfactory program, and it is up to the various clubs of the community to devote whatever time and effort it requires to see that it continues."

WM. C. YOUNG ATTENDS U. S. CHAMBER MEETING
Wm. C. Young will go to Washington, D. C., to represent the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce at the 42nd Annual Meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States on April 26, 27 and 28.
Delegates from all parts of the nation will have government and business leaders discuss the problem business men are likely to be dealing with in the year ahead. The present uncertainty of business conditions and the approaching Congressional elections will give a timely flavor to the meeting. Theme of the Annual Meeting is "Action Needed".
It is also an occasion for the National Chamber, with its underlying membership of 1,500,000 business men, to review its activities and accomplishments of the past year and to outline the issues which need special attention in the year ahead. Among subjects to be discussed are a 7-point program of work which advocates:
(1) government economy; (2) a better tax system; (3) expansion of jobs, markets and production; (4) individual security; (5) better labor relations; (6) economic understanding; and (7) a sound foreign policy.
More than 3,000 business leaders are expected to attend the Annual Meeting.

able and non-callable bonds had been purchased by the sinking fund. There is also money on hand and in anticipated collections for the year to apply for maturing bonds, but to purchase more of the $45,000 worth still callable.
The maintenance fund ran in the red last year and estimates are that it will end up this year about $22,738 in the hole. Selling of the ground elevation and necessity for lowering pumps, drainage and maintaining dikes are the causes of this deficit.
The construction of L-1, L-2 and L-3 to a point where they will divert the flood waters away from the district's perimeter dikes and the maintenance of a fairly constant water table will greatly reduce the maintenance costs of all drainage districts around the lake.
W. M. Jeffries was re-elected to the job of Secretary and W. C. Owen as permanent Chairman.

sometimes to the detriment of surrounding properties. This will have legislative consideration looking towards allowing the drainage district control this type of undertaking within its limits.
The bondholders have a lien on the land as security, and each year here isn't much good if the hole is dragged away and a 30-foot hole left for security. The owner must just say to the collector: "Alright go ahead and take the hole and say to somebody else for your tax".
Candidates Elliott and Emmett Roberts were present at the meeting by invitation and concurred in the expressions of the land and landowners on these questions.
Treasurer Bill Jeffries and Chairman Bill Owen reported that not only are bond maturity dates taken care of but that call-

The National Guard Has Protected Our Homes Since 1636

"The welfare of our country is the great object to which our cares and efforts ought to be directed."

George Washington

January 8, 1790

100
MEN WANTED
TO GUARD OUR LIVES
...AND HOMES!

Young men, you are urgently needed to help protect our national security!

It has been the peculiar blessing of America to have had a succession of great leaders whose first devotion was to all the people.

Without exception, they have taught us that the security of our country begins in the home.

And, of course, it is a basic truth. The strength of America is simply the strength of one secure home touching that of another.

Our first duty to America is our duty to our own homes. We can do honor to George Washington and all our other great leaders in no better way than to make our homes secure.

The Guard protects lives and property in local disaster... It provides trained units to join our regular forces in a national emergency. The security of our nation demands a full-manned National Guard.

The need is so great that men who volunteer to serve their country by enlisting in the National Guard between the ages of 17-18½ will be deferred from active military duty so long as they continue to serve satisfactorily — unless, of course, their Guard unit is called in time of national emergency.

You'll have the satisfaction of serving your country and community as a citizen-soldier. And you can enlist in the unit of your choice. What's more, you'll benefit from the many advantages and opportunities open to you as a member of your hometown National Guard unit.

TOP TRAINING started near home while still in school or business. Useful military skills learned from experienced veterans.

EXTRA INCOME from the time spent in training. Qualify for valuable retirement pay.

SPORTS AND RECREATION FACILITIES are available in National Guard installations to Guardsmen, their families and friends.

EDUCATION OPPORTUNITIES qualify you for better paying civilian jobs. Attend regular Army schools with pay or take correspondence courses.

ADVANCEMENT AND PROMOTION as high as your interest, ability, and experience will take you. You may qualify for an officer's commission or an appointment to West Point.

LEADERSHIP TRAINING prepares you to give orders and direct others. Develop those qualities that make you a better man and a leader in your community.

MOLDING LIVES

Many of us do not realize how easily we influence and help to shape the lives of other people. Children are especially impressionable. A child naturally follows in the footsteps of the individuals whom he most admires.

A child's character is molded, just as the lump of clay in the hands of a younger learning to model clay takes the form she chooses. She is conscious of ability to shape something in the way her imagination and her will direct. Some day she may discover that she has been given a privilege — and the tremendous responsibility — of molding her own character as she uses that same will constructively, day after day and hour after hour. She will discover, too, ways to be better, stronger and kinder and helpful, and may she discover that her kindness, her obedience, her sweetness and her helpfulness to others will help to mold other lives, even though she may sometimes be unaware of ## her good influence.

We know that moral influences are often exerted unconsciously. A child who plays with other children who lie, cheat, use profanity or steal will certainly be influenced in mind and in character by the influence can help to mold our children's lives. Jesus gave us the wonderful advice, "Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in Heaven."

From the War Cry.

NEWS OF JUNIORS AT FIRST BAPTIST SS

The fourth and last lesson in the Junior prayer school, was given and the Scripture was taken from Psalm 96:1-13. During the program a world globe was placed in the center of an exhibit with an open Bible in front of the globe and a large picture of Jesus hung above and behind the globe. The song "The Whole Wide World" was the theme song for the program. The program was closed with a series of sentence prayers by Juniors and teachers after which each Junior was presented with a "Prayer School" report card which they were to graduate themselves. (This part they liked), for each day next week they said a prayer they were to check the card and bring the card to Sunday school next Sunday. For those with a perfect record there will be a special seal placed on the card.

Martha Faye Davidson was pianist and Willie Busch was organist. Three visitors were welcomed into the Department, and one new member, Judy Farmer, who will be in the Grades Edwards class of 12 year girls.

Mrs. Waddell's class received a letter for the week with Mr. U. Jones' class of 12 year boys second. The 10 year girls were third. This is the first time the 12 year boys have had honorable mention, but this is due to the fact that they have not had a permanent teacher. Other classes will have to work hard or the 12 year boys will take the banner because it is already evident that they and their new teacher, Mr. Vernon Jones are out to get that banner.

TAX AUTHORITY TO BE HEARD ON SMATHERS PROGRAM

One of the United States Senate's tax authorities will be heard in an interview with Senator George Smathers on his weekly radio program to be broadcast Wednesday, April 7, over WSWN.

Senator Russell B. Long, a member of the senate's Finance Committee which writes tax legislation, will give his views on the current controversy in the Congress over tax reduction proposals.

Smathers, usually answering questions himself on this program will turn questioner and let the guest speaker explain why various issues which are before the committee at the present time.

Long, a Louisiana Democrat, is the youngest member of the Senate, but he has served for the past six years on the Finance Committee and Smathers calls him "one of the ablest" of his colleagues.

The program, transcribed in Washington, will be broadcast locally as a public service by the station management.

I Gave My Life For Thee

A frail young woman visits an art gallery

Nearly a hundred years ago . . . 1858 . . . a frail young woman of 22 sat in an art gallery in Germany. To delicate to attend school, she had been her native England, Frances Ridley Havergal's father had sent her to visit friends in Düsseldorf. Exhausted from studying, Miss Havergal sat by chance, to rest in front of a painting of Christ on the cross. The face of Jesus was so beautiful, so full of love, that she noticed the words: "This have I done for thee; that thou shouldst love me." Inspired by the painting, she wrote a few lines of poetry. That night at the home of her friends she threw the scraps of paper into the fire. Then there took place one of those strange incidents that have been destined of men. A gust of air blew the paper out into the hearth.

I gave my life for thee,
My precious blood I shed;
That thou mightest love me,
And quickened from the dead;
I gave my life for thee,
What hast thou given for me?

My Father's house of light,
My glory cried I long
I left for earthly things
For wanderings and love;
I left it all for thee,
Has thou leftught for me?

day is at hand: let us therefore cast off the works of darkness, and let us put on the armour of light" (13:12).

CHURCHES OF CHRIST. SCIENTIST

That the spiritual understanding which enables man to differentiate between the true and the false, is God-bestowed and is unlimited by material heredity and environment — is a leading point to be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

Selections from the King James Version of the Bible and correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy comprise the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Unreality."

Scriptural texts to be read include the following from "Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning" (1 P.).

Readings from Science and Health will include the following: "Spirit imparts the understanding which uplifts consciousness and leads into all truth . . . (505:16-17). The Golden Text is from Romans:

"The night is far spent, the day is at hand: let us therefore cast off the works of darkness, and let us put on the armour of light" (13:12).

OUTLINE FOR THE INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON — April 4, 1954

LESSON TOPIC — "Jesus' Intercessory Prayer"

SCRIPTURE LESSON — John 17

By Rev. Robert Ford

INTRODUCTION:

For the past two weeks, we have been considering what Jesus said to his disciples in the upper room. How he was preparing them for his death and sacrifice. Today we come to the time just before his betrayal, he now offers his great high priestly prayer for his disciples and the Church which is to follow.

I. Jesus Prays for the Coming Day of Glory — Jn. 17:1-5

II. Jesus Reports that His Mission Has Been Accomplished on Earth — Jn. 17:6-8

III. Intercession for the First Disciples — Jn. 17:9-19

a. A Definite Prayer for His Followers — vs 9-10

b. A Prayer for their Safety — vs 11-13

c. A Prayer for their Sanctification — vs 14-19

IV. Intercession for the Whole Church — Jn. 17:20-26

a. A Prayer that Believers Might Live On Earth in Fellowship with Him Another — vs 20-22

b. A Prayer That Believers Might Share The Eternal Glory Of Christ — vs 24-26

CONCLUSION:

The Prayer of Jesus still is for His Church; that they may overcome all that the world may offer in opposition; that they may be one in Spirit, Purpose and above all, in Love. Christ said that by this (love) shall all men know that ye are my Disciples.

Too Late To Classify

By Russell Kay
In a three page illustrated feature, TIME — the weekly newsmagazine — tips its hat to Florida in an article entitled "Playboy Grows Up" (March 8 issue).

Pointing out that tourism is no longer all important to this state, the magazine tells the amazing story of Florida's industrial growth.

"From the white sands of Miami to the piney woods of the northwestern panhandle, new industries formed the base of the new kind of boom," Time says. Among the new industries developments in the north are: two skyscrapers now abuilding in Jacksonville for Prudential and Independent Life Insurance companies; St. Regis Paper's giant $18 million plant; General Motors $2,500,000 expansion of its Elkhart, Ind. plant; vision General Foods new Maxwell House Instant Coffee plant, and International Harvester's new $300,000 farm equipment outlet.

"In the west, long known as the 'hog and hominy' country, Chemstrand's $45 million nylon plant at Pensacola is in commercial production; eight pulp and paper plants are in operation and a new $18 million cellulose plant is near completion. Even such a resort center as Miami has new industries, including small sportswear and light metal plants now fanning out into suburbs.

"Florida's agriculture has kept pace with its industry," Time says. This year the state will produce the biggest citrus crop in its history and, thanks to the $132 million frozen citrus plant, will be able to sell almost every orange and grapefruit at a good price. Big gains are also shown in cattle raising and vegetable production.

Florida business and industrial leaders listed in the article include Edward Ball, who boasts the vast interests of the estate of Alfred I. duPont, and who, as head of the Florida National Bank, has helped develop many new industries to become established.

The Lykes family, shippers, processors, packers, of citrus and cattle operators; Tom Swan, head of Florence Foods; McGregor Smith, president of Florida Power and Light Company; all of whom have played a major part in bringing Florida to its present industrial state.

Other great industrial developments include sugar growing in the Everglades where the United States Sugar Corporation operates the world's largest sugar mill; mining of such valuable ores as ilmenite and rutile from which the wonder metal titanium is produced; the growing phosphate industry; the opening of new promising oil fields; production of ramie and other fibers all of which contribute new wealth and economic stability to the state.

Time points out that tourism, while still a major industry that brings millions of dollars to the state annually, does not dominate the state's economy today as it once did. While a lack of tourist business would hurt, it would not cripple the state as would have been the case a few years ago when there was little or no industrial development.

This splendid article in Time will help to focus national attention on the state and we are indebted to the publishers for featuring it so prominently. It will surprise millions of readers who are still inclined to think of Florida as a playground that depends upon its climatic advantages of seashore and sunshine, night clubs, horse and dog racing and the like.

Yes, Florida is growing up, and growing fast. Her industrial development is making it possible for her to offer employment to millions who heretofore could not consider the state for lack of income. Our future is indeed bright!

DON'T LET YOUNGSTERS
DODGE MATH IN SCHOOL

Should your kids take science and math in high school and college?

Darn right, say the scientists of America's big industrial companies. They are worried because only 1.4% of high school youths take solid geometry, only about 1.8% take trigonometry, and only 1% of 1% of college students take algebra. If this continues, says a General Electric scientist, good jobs will go without takers in future years.

MEDICAL ASSOCIATION TO HOLD MEETING

The Florida Medical Association is holding its 80th annual meeting April 25-28, according to announcement recently by Dr. Frederick K. Herpel, president, of West Palm Beach. As in the past five years, the meeting will be in Hollywood, Fla.

The rounding out of 80 years by the medical organization will be marked with little, if any, special ceremonies. Dr. Herpel has stated. As at former annual meetings, the physicians attending will spend their time listening to scientific addresses and surgery.

AND SERVICE

State Service Officer — Retroactive Payment Of Compensation Allowed To 3 Dates.

It will be to the advantage of all Korean veterans, who come out of service with physical disabilities, suffered as a result of sickness or injury while in service, to file a claim for compensation as soon after discharge as possible. Compensation payments to Korean veterans for service-connected disabilities may be allowed retroactively to one of three different dates.

1. If a veteran files his application within a year after the date of separation from active service, and it is found that his service-connected disability was severe enough at separation to be compensable, compensation will be paid back to the day following his separation date.

2. If a veteran files his application a year following separation, but his disability was not compensable at separation, retroactive compensation payments are paid back only to the date evidence shows the disability became severe enough to rate compensation.

3. If a veteran files application later than one year after separation, compensation payments are made retroactive to the date of filing only.

I want to make it clear that these circumstances do not imply there is a time limit on filing a claim. Veterans may apply for disability compensation at any time during their lifetime.

Compensation may be paid monthly to veterans who have disabilities which are judged to have been incurred in or aggravated by service.

"Having a telephone put in our farm home was my best buy last year. It saves valuable time in ordering groceries, or getting a doctor or help from a neighbor. The joy it gives me to chat with a neighbor, invite someone to church, inquire about a sick friend, or receive long distance calls from my children in other states—all in these ways the telephone makes our farm life more worth-while." Mrs. L. E. Bazzell, Route 1, Box 164, Mountain Creek, Alabama.

A lot of people everywhere find as Mrs. Bazzell does, that the telephone is their "best buy." On farms, in cities, day in and day out, the telephone serves in so many big and little ways. Yet its cost is small, less than a penny an hour for the average family.

THE UNITED STATES POLL

Better Parents and More Supervised Teen-Age Activities the Ways to Fight Juvenile Delinquency.

By Kenneth Fink, Director, Princeton Research Service. The best way to cut down on juvenile delinquency according to nearly 3 out of every 4 adult citizens questioned in a recent nationwide survey is for parents to do a better job of being parents.

What specifically does the American public have in mind when it says that the way to cut down on juvenile delinquency is to have parents do a better job?

In answer to the question recently asked by United States Poll staff reporters: "As you probably know, juvenile delinquency is becoming more and more of a problem in the state and nation today. What one suggestion do you have for cutting down on juvenile delinquency in your state?"

People across the nation suggested more parental control and supervision; stricter parents; mothers staying home more; better training in the home, and more parental education.

In other words, the big majority of people in this nation today — in every section of the country — on the farm and in the city — are of the opinion that in any campaign to reduce juvenile delinquency, the place to begin is the home.

Next most frequently mentioned way to combat juvenile delinquency is more supervised recreational facilities for the teen-agers. 30% of the people questioned in today's survey think this is the best way.

Then come more church attendance and more stress of religion in children's lives and the need for the churches to do more work in the recreational field than they presently are doing.

A curfew to get children home at a decent hour, the punishment of delinquent parents, stiffer penalties for juvenile delinquents, and less progressive education also received some mention.

An interesting sidelight in today's survey is the small number of mentioned "crime movies, radio, and television programs, and comics. Only about 1 in each 100 suggested doing away with any of them.

Here are the American public's suggestions for cutting down juvenile delinquency:

More parental control and supervision; stricter parents; mothers staying home more; better training in the home, and more parental education.

Parents should look after children more; mothers should stay home more; control and supervision; stricter parents; mothers staying home more; better training in the home, and more parental education.

Mothers should look after children more; mothers should stay home more; control and supervision; stricter parents; mothers staying home more; better training in the home, and more parental education.

Children should get better training in the home — 8%.

Parents need more education; more parental education — 6%.

Total — 74%.

Need more recreational facilities for teen-agers; more supervised activities; more clubs like P. A. L., Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Y. M. C. A., etc. — 30%.

More church attendance by children; more Sunday school work; more stress on religion work; more stress on religious work — 2%.

Churches should do more recreational work — 3%.

Total — 11%.

Should have a curfew; make children stay home night; get them off the streets in the evenings by use of curfew — 6%.

Punish delinquent parents; punish the parents — 4%.

Stiffer penalties for juvenile delinquents; lock them up — 3%.

Less progressive education; eliminate progressive education — 2%.

Better T. V. and Radio programs; better movies; better comics — 2%.

Other suggestions — 9%.

(Figures add to more than 100 because some people gave more than 1 suggestion.)

Some typical verbatim comments follow:

Mothers should stay home and train their children.

Fathers should be more strict with kids. They have entirely too much freedom.

There should be more places for children to play.

Parents should train children better. No religious training in the home today.

Women should not have to work; should stay at home with the kids.

There should be more community recreation places for teen-agers.

Make parents criminally responsible.

The Herald presents the results of the United States Poll exclusively in this area. (Copyright, 1954, by Princeton Research Service.)

Loss Or Destruction Of Government Checks.

Probably know, the U. S. Treasury Department mails out millions of Government checks each year.

Out of these millions of checks there are bound to be some of them lost or destroyed.

So here is some information that will be of value to you if one of these lost or destroyed checks happens to be yours.

Legal basis for replacement of checks — Replacement of government checks that have been lost or destroyed is governed by Public Law 243, December 3, 1946, and Treasury Department regulations pursuant to that law.

Notification of Loss — The owner of the check should state, if possible, the purpose for which the check was issued, the date, the number, and the amount of the check. If the claimant is someone other than payee of the check, he should present satisfactory evidence of his ownership. If the notification is sent to the Treasury Department, the name of the government department that issued the check should be stated.

When a mutilated check is involved, the check should be included.

Generally, a letter of application for replacement of the check will be sufficient. If additional material is needed, the Treasury Department will inform the applicant as to what is required and send the necessary forms.

If the Original Check Is Recovered — If the original check is received or recovered after the owner has requested stoppage of payment, but before substitute check has been received, he should immediately notify the issuer or the Treasury Department, as the case may be, to disregard the stop-payment request. If receipt or recovery occurs after a substitute check has been received, the original check should be forwarded immediately to the Division of Disbursement, Treasury Department, Washington, D. C., for cancellation. Under no circumstances should both checks be cashed.

As of April 1, taxpayers in the United States are being given a billion dollar "bonus" and there should be a whole-some effect upon the nation's economy. It is expected that Florida will benefit especially from several phases of the excise tax reduction program which the Senate voted several days ago. House concurrence is necessary and that body will decide this week. A reduction to a flat ten percent of the transportation tax will account for $95 millions. This will release more money to be spent in Florida by every person visiting the state as indeed will the reductions ordered in taxes on telephones and telegraph.

Buick's New Century Convertible

OUTSTANDING performance and luxury are combined in the Century edition of the Buick convertible which has just been put into production. The sloping doorbell line and the fully-exposed rear wheel give the Century convertible the graceful beauty and raciness of sports car styling with big car comfort and roominess. Mounted on a 123-inch wheelbase, the Century is powered by a 200-horsepower high compression V8 engine, and boasts one of the highest power-to-weight ratios of any car on the market. The interior is luxuriously trimmed in genuine leather with power windows and power front seat as standard equipment.

Administration leaders asserted that any further reductions would endanger the government's fiscal position, and it was not practical to attack this view.

Exemptions from the admission tax also will be a great boon to our state under the law, there will be no admission taxes on small theatres which charge 60 cents or less, and exemptions also will apply to college athletic events, to museums of history, art and science operated by government or non-profit agencies, and grade or high school athletic events staged for the benefit of hospitals for crippled children.

They really "GO" together

The new 110-h.p. Six-Fordomatic Drive combination is available in any of Ford's 14 body styles. Illustrated is the Customline Six Fordor Sedan.

Ford Six and Fordomatic

The new Ford 115-h.p. I-block Six whisks you along silently, smoothly, economically. Its deep-block build provides rigid crankshaft support for smoother, quieter operation. Low-friction design and high-turbulence combustion chambers mean more miles from less gas. And, thanks to the Six's higher compression and increased displacement, you get extra "GO" power at all speeds!

Fordomatic Drive shifts for you more smoothly than you could do it yourself. It's the only "automatic" in Ford's field to combine a fluid torque converter and an automatic intermediate gear. Should you ever need an extra burst of speed for passing or hill-climbing Fordomatic's intermediate gear takes over automatically when you step down on the accelerator.

You get a double-value power package when you buy a '54 Ford with the new I-block Six and versatile Fordomatic Drive. This brilliant Ford engine-transmission combination brings you all the smoothness and flexibility of the finest no-shift driving combined with the extra economy that's built into the industry's most modern, short-stroke, overhead-valve Six. And, of course, you get the smooth, level riding comfort, the easier handling of Ford's Ball-Joint Front Suspension, a feature exclusive to Ford in its field. Remember, too, a Ford Six with Fordomatic Drive is automatically worth more when it comes time for you to sell!

A FORDOMATIC FORD IS AUTOMATICALLY WORTH MORE WHEN YOU BUY IT ... WHEN YOU SELL IT, TOO!

POLIO INOCULATIONS FOR GLADES APRIL 12

Mrs. D. L. Shiver and Mrs. H. B. Walker attended a conference of Palm Beach, Dade and Broward County health and school officials at Good Samaritan Hospital, Friday. The Glades were well represented. Mrs. Rollin Plank and Mrs. Joe Drumbach led a round table discussion on polio prevention during which the inoculation of school children against polio was discussed from various angles.

The plan calls for the inoculation of children in the first, second and third grades over Palm Beach County while parents give written consent.

The Glades Clinic will be conducted in Belle Glade the week of April 12. Previous to that time meetings for parents in the various communities will be held to acquaint them with the value of this inoculation in controlling this dread disease.

Color films will be shown both to the parents and to the school children. At the close of the meetings parents may sign up for their children to have this safe guard against disease.

There will be a series of three shots, the first two a week apart, the third a month later.

Mrs. Floyd Wilder, Mrs. D. L. Shiver, Mrs. V. A. Boole and Mrs. M. J. Hardy have been appointed in South Bay to arrange for the parents meeting and to acquaint the parents and citizens of the importance of the movement.

MAN-OF-WAR BIRD OR FRIGATE BIRD

Man-o-war bird is a large, powerful bird with a wingspread of 8 feet and a weight of just under 4 pounds! It has a length of about 3 1/2 feet including a 6-inch bill and a 18-inch tail that is forked more than half its length. The wings are conspicuously bent backward at the "elbow" (which isn't the elbow really) and while many of the birds appear at a distance to be solid black beneath, others show conspicuously white underparts. The bird that would fit into this picture may be seen flying endlessly over the ocean and near tropical shores and is the Frigate Bird or Man-o-war Bird.

MAN-O-WAR BIRD ©1953 National Wildlife Federation

Imagine a bird with a wingspread of 8 feet and a weight of just under 4 pounds! It has a length of about 3 1/2 feet including a 6-inch bill and a 18-inch tail that is forked more than half its length. The wings are conspicuously bent backward at the "elbow" (which isn't the elbow really) and while many of the birds appear at a distance to be solid black beneath, others show conspicuously white underparts. The bird that would fit into this picture may be seen flying endlessly over the ocean and near tropical shores and is the Frigate Bird or Man-o-war Bird.

There are 3 species of Man-o-war Birds recorded. They range from Nova Scotia to Venezuela on the Atlantic Coast and from Humboldt Bay to Antarctica south to the Galapagos Islands with one species widespread in the Indian Ocean and other species extending the range over most of the warm seas. In spite of their uncanny ability to fly there is relatively little seasonal migration. Sometimes the birds are found in large numbers in North America as far as Wisconsin, Illinois and Ohio.

The birds never sleep on the water and because of their strong homing instinct have been used to carry messages for man. Since any group of half a dozen birds would be likely to seek land with the advent of sundown and since individuals probably do not range, at least during nesting season, farther than 75 miles off shore, the movements of a number of birds in a given direction at dusk is often taken to mean that land lies within 75 miles of the point the birds were observed and in the direction they are flying. To a man lost in a boat this may often have considerable significance.

During the breeding season the male distends an enormous balloon like sac beneath its throat, sits on the nest and makes cackling noises when a female approaches. From 1 to 3 eggs measuring about 2 by 3 inches and white are incubated by both parents. The young are soon covered with a white down and hold their juvenile plumage a year. The adults are most pugnacious and do not hesitate to attack birds larger than they.

The food is picked up from the surface of the ocean while the bird is in flight or is secured by attacking slower flying boobies and pelicans forcing them to give up their catches to the Man-o-war Birds. The birds are practically helpless on land and the only element of their life they are acknowledged masters is the air.

Even bald beach combers served beneath their heads back and watching the flight of Man-o-war Birds with intense admiration. They may distribute the sunburn a bit. More than this these birds must appeal to the imagination of anyone who recognizes superstition in any field of endeavor. These birds just about reach that pinnacle if we consider flight. The National Wildlife Federation welcomes the opportunity to defend this bird.

PROOF OF CITIZENSHIP OR AGE AIDED THRU BUREAU OF CENSUS

More than 5,300 residents of Florida turned to the U. S. Bureau of the Census for assistance in establishing proof of age or citizenship during 1953, according to Supervisor L. S. Bullington of the Bureau's district office at Sarasota, Florida. Transcripts of personal census records are acceptable, in most instances, as substitutes for certificates or other legal evidence in establishing proof of age or citizenship. Such proof is of vital importance in qualifying for Social Security benefits, in settling estates and insurance cases, in determining eligibility for employment in defense industries, and for other purposes where it is necessary to furnish evidence of identity, age, or citizenship.

Transcripts of personal census records can be obtained from the Census Bureau upon payment of the cost of searching the records. Federal funds are not appropriated for this service and the fees charged are used to pay the salaries of the searchers and to cover the cost of the necessary office supplies.

A fee of $3.00 is charged for searches of two censuses for one individual, given routine handling. Expedited handling can be obtained for a fee of $4.00. Routine handling generally requires from four to six weeks to complete while expedited handling is usually completed in one or two weeks. Supervisor Bullington pointed out that personal information recorded by the Census Bureau is entirely confidential and may be furnished only upon written request of the individual to whom it relates.

lates or his legal representatives. Persons desiring transcripts of their personal Census records may obtain application blanks and information from the Census Bureau's district office at Room 202, Post Office Building, Sarasota, Florida, or by writing to the Bureau of the Census, Washington 25, D. C.
